

The effort to limit public service types (local weather, news, traffic, etc.) of programming from satellite radio is not in the public interest. The more outlets for this type of information the better informed the public will be in times of adverse weather or other crisis.

Yours truly,
Robert Walker